

I am an XM radio listener, subscriber and I completely support XM Radio. I feel Xm has a right to provide important information such as traffic, weather, and any other information that could be helpful to the people. If the NAB is concerned about their clients future then they should encourage them to get up to speed with modern technology. I am sending this message over a satellite connection and I would not have it any other way, as for XM Radio I feel the same way it is so much better. I fully support XM Radio. I find that instant information is much better than info that is to late, for example you get caught in a traffic jam because you where not informed, or you hit very bad weather on a trip with your family when if informed you could have stopped in a safe place until it passed (like a hail storm). So if XM is so bad then why do most major car manufactures install XM ready radios in their products? Leave XM Radio alone.
